Xi now has power to shut down tech cos

New data security regime gives Prez power to fine tech cos as part of drive to wrest control of vast reams of data held by the giants

BLOOMBERG June 11

CHINA'S NEW DATA security regime gives President Xi Jinping the power to shut down or fine tech companies as part of his drive to wrest control of vast reams of data held by giants like Alibaba Group and Tencent.

Firms found mishandling "core state data" can be forced to cease operations, have their operating licences revoked or fined up to 10 million yuan ($1.6 million) under a law passed Thursday by the Asian nation's top legislative body.

Companies that leak sensitive data abroad can be hit with similar fines and punishments, and those providing electronic information to overseas law enforcement bodies without permission can face financial penalties up to 5 million yuan and business suspensions, according to the law published on the website of the National People's

The law, which goes into effect September 1, stipulates that major decisions involving data security will be made by central national security officials. Xi's administration has tightened control over the hoard of information produced by the nation's tech companies as part of broader efforts to position China as a leader in big data. Beijing has been pouring money into data centers and other digital infrastructure to make electronic information a national economic driver and help shore up the Communist Party's legitimacy.

The law represents "another important piece in the overall data protection regulatory jigsaw in China," Carolyn Bigg, a lawyer who specializes in intellectual property and technology issues with DLA Piper in Hong Kong, said before it was passed. Companies will still need to wait for guidance and technical standards on the practical measures they must take to comply, she said. "It remains a complex and increasingly onerous compliance framework for international businesses to navigate through," Bigg said.

Chinese tech stocks were mixed Friday. Alibaba fell 1.2% and Tencent slipped 0.8% at the close in Hong Kong, while Meituan advanced 3.1%. A subgauge of tech shares on the CSI 300 Index of key firms listed in Shanghai and Shenzhen dropped 1.5%, among the worst performers.

Russia spars with EU and US at meeting on EU-UN cooperation

RUSSIA SPARRED WITH the European Union and the US at a UN meeting Thursday that highlighted the strained relations between Moscow, Brussels and Washington.

Estonia, which holds the Security Council presidency this month, organised the meeting to focus on cooperation between the United Nations and the 27-nation European Union, inviting its foreign policy chief Josep Borrell to speak about the relationship and challenges to peace and security.

The council meeting came just ahead of this weekend's summit of the Group of Seven major industrialised nations which Russia was ousted from in 2014 — and next week's first meeting between US President Joe Biden and Russia's President Vladimir Putin, which comes as relations between Washington and Moscow have sunk to a post-Cold War low.

Borrell told the council in a virtual address that the Covid-19 pandemic "has underscored the fragility of our hyper-globalised and interdependent world." "The demand for multilateral solutions is much greater than the supply," he said, pointing to "more divisions, more free-riding and more distrust than the world can afford."

"We need global cooperation based on agreed rules because the alternative is the law of the jungle, where problems don't get solved," he said.

Tokyo Olympics still undecided on fans — or no fans at all

Tokyo, June 11

THE QUESTION OF allowing any fans into Tokyo Olympic venues is still being debated with a decision unlikely to be announced before the end of the month.

This would be just a few weeks before the Olympics are to open on July 23. Fans from abroad have already been banned in what is shaping up as a largely made-for-television Olympics.
